

Angie Walter

December 26, 1977 - October 1, 2011

Angie Walter, age 33, of Rensselaer passed away unexpectedly October 1, 2011 at Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Angie was born in Crown Point, Indiana on December 26, 1977, the daughter of Mark and Debbie (Nomanson) Casco. She was a 1996 graduate of Kankakee Valley High School. Angie had lived in Wheatfield and Lowell, Indiana. She had been a resident of Rensselaer for the past 14 years.

A self-employed day-care provider since 2001, Angie previously was employed at Precision Glass in Rensselaer. Angie was a member of the Tri-County Bible Church.

On August 7, 1999, in Rensselaer, Angie married Jeff Walter who survives. Surviving Angie are her loving family, husband Jeff of Rensselaer, three sons, Jack Regan, Cody Walter and Trent Walter, at home, her parents, Mark and Debbie Casco of DeMotte, and her sister, Amber Casco of Rensselaer.

Memorials may be made to the family.

“ I have a lot of good and funny memories of Angie back in our highschool days. I wish I would have gotten to know her better since highschool. I know we all change, one thing that has not changed is her beautiful smile. It tells alot about what a beautiful person, wife, mother and friend she was. Angie you will missed, I hope to see you again some day...

Angie, I can never thank you enough for not only caring for my children, but for being my friend. We were pregnant together, and I'll never forget us comparing "notes" during our pregnancy and then introducing our babies to each other. Thank you for helping me when Matty was in the hospital. I cannot say thank you enough for everything you have done for our family. You are and amazing person and you will always be a part of our family. We love you. Love, Joe, Lori, Nate, Matty, and Emmalyn.

Jeff & Family

The loss of Angie must be so hard, she was such a sweetheart. When she would come in a room, the room would just light up. She had the personalty to make every ones day better especially mine. I just thought she was a great person. I know your days will be darker without her, but Angie wouldn't want them to stay that way. May God and all the memory of Angie and all the good times help lighten your days once again.
