I did not know Benjamin but loved seeing his pictures of him and Lady on the boat doing what they loved to do. I am so sorry for your loss, sending prayers for the family, friends and his dogs who I am sure miss him too!!!

Terry Jackson - December 05, 2018 at 10:26 PM

We never met but I loved seeing his pics of him and Lady out on the water....My heart goes out to his family, friends and Lady. Prayers sent your way.

Vickie Vitale - December 06, 2018 at 07:06 AM

Even though we only "knew" him on Facebook the sense of loss is so very strong. My heart breaks and the tragedy of suicide is almost unbearable. Sincere condolences to the friends and family. May he rest in complete peace and you have happy memories to comfort you. Lady was one of my favorites and her eyes always brought joy to my day. Hopefully we will be able to continue to see how she is doing. ((Virtual hugs))) to all involved. Karen Kovach, Florida

How can it be that someone you never met can have such a strong impact, and their passing cause so much sadness? We were "friends" through a bluetick coonhound Facebook page. Benjamin's photos were inspiring to all of us. His love and care for Lady was so evident. I hope his family and friends can find peace knowing that he is now at peace with himself. I'm so sorry for your loss.

I too am a FB coonhound "Friend " of Benjamin & Lady. My loving prayers to your family. Benjamin gave me many smiles with his Lady photos & comments. I feel blessed to have been touched by his love of Lady.

“ I'm so sad to find this post. I've known Ben since high school, he lived 2 doors down from me in Bolingbrook, IL. Although transitioning from AZ wasn't easy for me, he made life fun! I still remember driving in his purple sports car & my ears would ring for days following (you could hear his sound system from blocks away, not to mention feeling the vibrations, lol) or even just hanging out in his garage as he fixed whatever (he could fix anything). Needless to say, I've been off Facebook for several months now & was attempting to contact Ben. I'm in shock! I've been planning to visit for sometime now & my only regret, not taking the opportunity. Jessica, I hope you are ok sweetie? If you'd like, you can message me: ericahoffman@comcast.net and please give my condolences to your parents. This is heartbreaking...R.I.P. my friend, God bless. XOXO P.s. I was going to message him this link I saw today, because it made me think of him (both of us travel warriors). <https://www.cnn.com/travel/article/san-francisco-lighthouse-job/index.html>

I'm so sorry for your loss. There aren't any words that can take the pain away after losing a loved one. I always enjoyed his pictures & posts, kept me so inspired! We got back in touch probably in 2008 & although we were merely pen pals living distances apart, we shared similar interests. I'm so disappointed I didn't go to his funeral & even more disappointed almost 2 months went by before I attempted contacting him. Heaven got another angel for sure. I'm just sorry I never took time to go visit him. He knew my son was looking into Embry Riddle & we had spoke about us visiting on Spring Break. Never in a million years would I have thought something tragic would take him. Your brother was a good friend, always cheered me up when I was down. Made anything & everything seem possible. He was kind hearted & loved to have fun. I remember him always being before his time when it came to fixing things or just figuring out how something worked. Very intelligent & will always be in my heart. Love & prayers for healing our sadness. XOXO

“ OH Benjamin you have been a big part of our married life for 45 years. It wasn't but a couple of months after your mother and I were married that you made your imminent arrival known, by August we were three. To say you were a busy boy would be an understatement. The Lord must have thought we were up to the challenge. Your hyper activity continued through your teen and adult years. These same attributes that drove us nuts allowed you to succeed at whatever endeavors you set your mind to. You had many jobs over the years. As one opportunity would come to an end it wouldn't be long before you would reinvent yourself and be on your way again earning you the nickname of “The Come Back Kid” Those who knew you know what we are saying. We worked so hard at trying to be good parents that it got in the way of being a friend to you when you needed one. If we had this all to do over again we would most likely make the same dumb mistakes. You didn't come with a manual. Even if you did we probably wouldn't have read it anyway. We are proud of you but didn't tell you enough. We love you dearly and I know didn't tell you that nearly enough either. To be a big part of our family for 45 years and sharing in your adventures and now for you to be gone leaves a gigantic hole in our hearts. You were first of all a Son, A Big Brother, An Uncle, A Father, A Husband (for a time) Nephew, Cousin and a Friend to many! We will all be forever changed for having known you. As I write this out of nowhere this flood of tears comes for a life cut short. A father should never have to bury his son. This has been one of the hardest things I ever had to do in the 66 years of my life. Our Hope in all of this is that you knew the LORD Jesus as your personal Savior and that we will one day all be reunited in heaven. We are PROUD of you and LOVE YOU Benjamin!!

“ Although we never met, I wanted to let you know how much joy you brought to me through your posts on the Bluetick Coonhound FB page. The sunsets, the boat pics, and Lady....always Lady , on the boat , in the dryer during thunderstorms, such incredible images and memories. Thank you for that, you are greatly missed by your Coonhound family. Godspeed Benjamin, I pray your soul is at peace.

“ Such a great friend had such a great person period from meeting you back in the junior high school days all the way up through high school. Remembering building are bmx bicycles to are RC cars. We would stay up all night in the basement of your quad, building them RC cars to take them to the race track in Schaumburg Illinois. The ride to high High school the 1st day of freshman year in your big red Mopar, believe it was called a Polaris that was your grandfather's. When we all got Pontiac's your Purple Trans Am, my blue Firebird. We both put big black 455 motors in them. I know your parents may read this but we had some pretty big parties at my house at your house and at Matt Phillips's house. You are only one year older than me but you are like a Big Brother to me. The memories I have of us growing up and going through high school together will never go away. You will be missed my friend but you will never be gone in my heart. In one more thing I remember we had 1 hell of a night on New Year's Eve of 1999 breaking in the year 2000. My thoughts and prayers go out to your parents and your sister. So many memories I would not be able to sit a mall on to this page.

Bob Kummer - November 30, 2018 at 09:24 AM

That's really sweet, Bob. I remember a lot of that, too. I remember my dad always taking him to the hobby store in Barrington Square, for RC parts.

“ I work at the marina where Ben kept his boat. For the 3 1/2 years I've worked there, I talked to him just about every day I worked and considered him a friend, not just a customer. I miss seeing you around the Harbor and talking to you about whatever the day brought us. RIP my friend. 😞

My wife and I met Ben and Lady at the marina over 2 years ago. Lady would invite herself on our boat to say hi and Ben wouldn't be far behind. Was always a pleasure to talk with. You will be missed. Until we meet again RIP Captain
