“ John and Julie, my heart aches for you. My prayer is that you continue to share yourselves, your pain, your faith through this new unwelcome journey of grief. Thank you for sharing Canaan with all of us whether it was moments or days or hours. My brief minutes to see him with you Julie, when you brought him into the store, were for me joyful moments. To see you hold him, to see your love for him change your countenance from this lovely young woman to become a lovely young mother. May the Love you and John have for your son keep your life together an ever strengthening bond. May God's Peace envelope you and may you let Him into your presence, going before Him knowing you are loved and your son is abiding within His Presence.##imported-begin##Melony Matejcek##imported-end##

“ I am a friend of Vicky's, I am so very sorry to hear about Canaan's passing. I am thinking about you and your family, I am an angel mom and am available if you need anything. I live in Valpo. I hope that you and your family can find some peace in knowing that you will see Canaan again in heaven. I know that it is a long rough road to take but you will get their one day. PRAYERS

“ My prayer are with all of you. Canaan a beautiful baby boy will always be your little boy. He is only gone from your sight. He knew love from you like no one else could have given him. He is just a whisper away. My prayer is that you always feel his loving presence with you. It broke my heart to see you weren't given more time but do hold onto the times you had. Your handsome little Angel now will watch over you and bless you as you have blessed his life. May the strength he surely had be with all of you to help see you through the times of tears and again remember him all in love.

Prayers,

Karen S.

“ R.I.P. Little Guy, you are loved by all that know you. You put up a good fight but are now in the arms of God. You touched a lot of peoples lives in the short time you were here. You are loved and will be missed very much. May God give your mommy & daddy strength and comfort in this time of need. You will forever be loved and remembered.##imported-begin##Cindy DePaul##imported-end##
