“ Uncle John also had a wonderful smile for everyone no matter what may have been going on for him. I was never more proud of my Uncle than when I was able to read about what he did when he served in the war and built schools for the children. I had no clue what he had done in the war until then because he would never talk about it but he was a true hero in my eyes even more after being able to read about all the details of his days there! He will be missed by many forever!!
