“Joyce will be missed greatly, even by people like me, who never were lucky enough to meet her in person. I was a client of Joyce's, and we only communicated over email, and the occasional phone call. Joyce's warmth and humor and hard work and optimism and integrity and humanity were always an inspiration to me, providing comfort in stressful times. Her amazing, giving, and open personality shone through in every communication we had. She always asked how I was doing, and really cared about me, as I came to care about her, I was so saddened to hear today that she has left this world. May she find peace in the next. With sympathy,
Julie

“ Joyce and I were best friends in high school. We were never apart that I can even remember until college years! We did everything together. We spend time at each other's homes! We sang for her parents all the time! We would be in her bedroom upstairs and her folks put money in a can at the bottom of the stairs as a thank you for the music they would hear coming from her room! We laughed til we cried! In school we were Mutt and Jeff due to the height differences! We loved our Spanish teacher Mr. Granger and went through every Spanish class together! We were in the last high school musical as both leading ladies of the play "Where's Charlie" that is where this picture is from! She was a beautiful young gal who grew to be a beautiful woman of God who loved her family and friends to the moon! Joyce someday we will be together again, singing in heaven's courts, probably the Hallelujah Chorus with our voices blended together again! Always my BFF and always attached to my heart that now aches in my loss, but heaven's gain! Til we meet again my sweet girl!!!

My heart goes out to each of you as I know you will sorely miss this special lady. Family, please take the time to grieve and remember and talk to each other about all the good and bad times you have shared together as it does help ease the loss. “ Kristy, you and your family are in my prayers. I hope you are able to find some comfort in knowing that she was able to be here long enough to raise a wonderful family that loved and cared about her as much as you do. Although I did not personally know Joyce, it is obvious by the outpouring of love from her family and friends that she was a wonderful person who will be dearly missed.

“ I met Joyce many years ago on a transcription forum. She was known as "Cupcake". She was so kind to all of us and such an inspiration. She was proud of being a Christian. Several of us became good friends and had some fun times joking about getting a canoe and coming to her house where we would steal her beautiful antique door knobs. I still have to chuckle when I think about her sense of humor. She was so kind to me and eager to help me get into transcription. She shared her love for her husband, children, and grandchildren with us, as well as her love for all of her family. I'll always remember a picture of her little white dog that she posted, reading a book and wearing glasses. You were truly a beautiful person Joyce and I'm so glad you were my friend.

“ I met Joyce through her work with Chromolume. She was so competent and careful yet warm and friendly that it didn't take long for us to start sharing little tidbits from our personal lives. Over several years & projects Joyce and I became good friends and facebook friends when we were not involved in a work related correspondence. For as different as we were, we had many shared interests. When Joyce didn't return to work after the holidays and stopped posting to Facebook, I was worried that the cancer may have spread. I suppose it is a sign of the times that someone like me, who has never met Joyce personally, can become so close through an online friendship. Joyce was a true gem. She loved her family, and Richard, and Angel. She loved life. She was smart and funny, thoughtful and sincere. I feel blessed to have known her, even if only through emails and phone calls. Sometimes, when you meet someone, you know right away they are "good people." Joyce was the real deal.

“ Joyce was my phone friend. I'd always laugh when she called me. I'd call her to find out about chicken pox, since her kids had already had it. I'd call her to find out how to clean a mess, since she'd already cleaned one like it. When she faced her hardest days, she showed me how to persevere with grace. Now she has passed before me. I hope someday I can pass with half the strength and faith Joyce showed. Like I've always said, you can't spell Joyce without joy. I love you, Joyce. Happy first birthday in heaven. Sue
