“ Having been a previous nurse of Leon.. he was a helluva jokester.. I'm still telling the story (without names ofc) about how I gave him his morning medication, and turned back to the med cart, only to feel what felt like a tugging on my scrub top. Nope.. Leon had taken the rest of his water that was left after taking his medication, and poured it into my scrub top pocket. He was a very playful man. He will be missed.
