“ Marjorie had that rare ability to see laughter in all aspects of life and to generously pass it on to others. Even when her knee went through the upholstery in my dad's new car, we managed to get a few laughs out of it before I had to go home and face the music. We worked tirelessly on the prom decorations and just finished about 6:00 prom night. Wonderful memories. She was a good go-to friend if something was bothering you, and you needed a good ear or a laugh. You will be missed, my friend, but never forgotten.

“ My deepest sympathy to Marge’s family. Marge and I attended high school together and were good friends. Although we have only seen each other once since 1963 (San Francisco - 1965) we have stayed in touch at least by exchanging Christmas cards most years. Marge was a friend to all. I recall her laugh being bigger than life. She was a joy to be around and will be dearly missed. May she rest in peace.
